STUDENTS.

The number of Pupils in the College during the Session 1863–64 was 773: viz. 387 Students, including 13 attending the Evening Classes of Latin, Greek, Mathematics, and Natural Philosophy; and 386 Boys in the Junior School. The Students of the Faculty of Medicine were 161, of whom 48 were new Students: the Students of the Faculty of Arts and Laws were 213, including the 13 attending the Evening Classes. The new Students in the General Classes were 136. The Students of Analytical Chemistry in the Birkbeck Laboratory were 15. The highest number of Boys in the Junior School in any one Term was 333.

The receipt for the Session 1863–64 from Students and Pupils for Fees, omitting fees for Hospital Practice, was £10,896 10*s.* 4*d.*, besides £20 received in the previous Session. Of those sums, £2542 10*s.* was received for attendance on Medical Classes, £2797 0*s.* 4*d.* for attendance on the Classes of the Faculty of Arts and Laws, and £5577 on account of the Junior School. The share of Professors and Masters, exclusive of the annual augmentations to the Professors of Natural Philosophy and Comparative Anatomy, and of the interest of the Patriot Fund paid to the Professors of the Evening Classes, for attendance at reduced fees by Schoolmasters and Ushers, was £8625 10*s.* 10*d.* The College portion was £2278 19*s.* 6*d.* The sum of £966 19*s.*, received for Clinical Instruction at the Hospital, was paid to the Hospital Committee towards the support of the Charity.

The entries for the current Session up to this period are—Medical Students 150, of whom 47 are new Students; new entries to the Hospital 38, Students of the Faculty of Arts and Laws 202 (of whom new Students, 119), Analytical Chemistry 20. The number of Boys in the Junior School this Term is 337*, a number unequalled in the second Term of the Session. At the corresponding period of last year, the number was 318. There is an improvement in every department of the College this year, compared with the last.

The Classes of the Faculty of Arts, in which there is an increase of Students this Session, are Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Natural Philosophy, English, Architecture, Civil Engineering, Analytical Chemistry, and Chemistry. The number in the Class of Chemistry this year is 88; in last year it was 64: the difference is principally in Students in Arts.

COLLEGE PRIZES.

The Andrews Scholarship of £85, for October 1864, for proficiency in Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, was awarded to Mr. Numa Edward Hartog, of London. The Andrews Scholarship in Classics was not awarded.

The Hume Scholarship in Jurisprudence of £20 a year, tenable for three years, was awarded to Mr. Theodore Waterhouse, of Reading.

The Prize offered by the Council for the best English Essay was not awarded, for reasons stated by Professor Masson, the Examiner.

For the Reading Room Society's Prize of £5, for the best Latin Prose Essay, there was no candidate. The Prize remains to be competed for this Session.

JUNIOR SCHOOL.

The Council have received from their Committee on the Junior School a satisfactory account of the result of their yearly inquiries, and of their attentive consideration of the condition and prospects of that Department of the College. They report that its general condition appears to them good and satisfactory, that the testimony borne by all the Masters to the orderly conduct and discipline of the Scholars is favourable and unanimous, and is confirmed by the gratifying circumstance of the diminution in the number of punishments; that the information furnished respecting the diligence and intellectual progress of the various classes is satisfactory and creditable to the reputation of the School. They also state that the further experience of the effect of the changes announced in the last Report—the new arrangements with the Masters, the appointment of Mr. Case as Vice-Master, and the formation of a Preparatory School for very little boys—confirms the favourable anticipations then expressed, and shows that the new functions entrusted to Mr. Case have proved useful in many ways, and have been exercised by him in full harmony with the other Masters. The Preparatory School for beginners, it appears, has constantly worked well, and it is looked to for highly beneficial results both in multiplying the number of Pupils and in improving the groundwork of early education. The Council have recently expended nearly £500 in improving the accommodation in the Class-rooms, and appurtenances to the Junior School.

Mr. Warner Atkinson, A.B., M.R.C.S., was fourth in the list of Candidates (39) at the Competitive Examination at Netley, in August last, for the Army Medical Service, and obtained a Commission.

ANDREWS SCHOLARSHIP AND EXHIBITIONS.

An important change has lately been made by the Council in the application of the Andrews Fund income, the employment of which was placed by the donor at the discretion of the Council.

The Council by the advice of a Committee charged with the consideration of the general condition of the College and the means of improving it, with a view to extend the benefits of the Andrews Endowments, and to render them attractive and stimulating to a greater number and variety of Students, determined on employing them in establishing, with the aid of contributions by the Professors from the receipt of their Classes, Entrance Exhibitions and Prizes and Scholarships for proficiency in Classics and Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, as follows:—Three Entrance Exhibitions of £30 a year each, tenable for three years, for new Students, two Andrews Prizes of £25 a year each for Students of one year's standing, and two Scholarships of £50 each for Students in their second year. The Entrance Exhibitions and Scholarships are composed partly of free attendance on Classes and partly of money payments, and can only be enjoyed by Students who attend Classes in the succeeding year.

The Regulations in detail for the Exhibitions, Prizes, and Scholarships will be given in an Appendix to this Report.

The offer of the Entrance Exhibitions, for which there were eight Candidates, is the only part of the scheme of the success of which any opinion can yet be formed. The objects proposed were to attract to the College a Class of well-prepared Students who might do it credit, and promising Students from Schools that had not hitherto supplied any; and it was expected that not only the successful Candidates, but also some of the unsuccessful Candidates might join the College.

The Council are informed by the Professors that their anticipations have been realized. The Competitive Examination was highly satisfactory. The successful Students have taken very creditable positions in the respective Classes. The five unsuccessful Candidates have all joined the College, and the one most distinguished of those who were successful comes from a School which has not hitherto sent Students to the College. The Council, at the instance of the Professors, have announced that similar Andrews Exhibitions and Scholarships will be offered for competition until further notice.

MEDICAL ENTRANCE EXHIBITIONS.

For the Medical Faculty also Entrance Exhibitions have been proposed as an experiment for three years. These are three of the value respectively of £30, £20, and £10 each, tenable for two years, awarded after competitive Examination in subjects of preliminary education, to gentlemen commencing their first Winter's attendance in a Medical School. The Examination is in Classics, Elementary Mathematics, and Natural Philosophy and either French or German.

These Exhibitions are provided for by Gifts of £100 each, bestowed expressly for the purpose by Sir Francis Goldsmid and Mr. Frederick Goldsmid, and by Contributions by the Professors of the Medical Faculty of the College of a portion of their receipts from Class Fees.

A Competitive Examination was accordingly held at the opening of the present Session: there were twelve Candidates, of whom four besides the three who gained the Exhibitions were pronounced worthy of Certificates of Honour. Two of them had gained prizes at the recent Matriculation Examination of the University of London, and all have entered to the Medical Classes of the College.

The Regulations will be found in the Appendix, p. 23.

PROFESSORSHIPS.

The Professorships have remained without change since the last Report; but, at the instance of Students, steps have been taken to procure for them instruction in Public Reading and Public Speaking, and, on the recommendation of the Senate, Mr. Charles Furtado was invited to give a Course in the College during the present Session. He accepted the invitation, and is now engaged in giving practical instruction to two Classes in one Lesson of an hour's duration to each Class on Mondays of every week, at a charge of £2 for fifteen Lessons.

Mr. Furtado gives a satisfactory report of the attention of the Students, and the profit which they appear to derive from his instruction.

In the Medical Faculty, an offer by Dr. Sankey, late Medical Superintendent of the Medical Department in the Hanwell Asylum, to give in the College a Course of Lectures on Mental Diseases, has been thankfully accepted. The Lectures will be delivered twice a week during the Summer Term. They will be free to Students of the College, present and past. For others a Fee of £2 will be charged.

The Council has received notice from Dr. Donaldson of his intention to resign the Professorship of Architecture at the close of the current Session. The Council have accepted the resignation with regret at prospect of the loss which the College will sustain by the retirement of a Professor who, for upwards of twenty years, has devoted himself with great ability and success to the instruction of the Class. As he resigns the Chair by reason of his age, he has the right, if he think proper, to assume the title of Emeritus Professor.

The usual measures for procuring a successor are in progress.

FELLOWSHIPS.

In the course of the last Session, the Council, in exercise of the power vested in them by the Bye-Laws, conferred Shares in the College, with the Title of Fellow, on Students who graduated with Honours at the University of London, as follows:—Fellows in Arts, Theophilus Dwight Hall, M.A., Robert Baldwin Hayward, B.A. Lond., M.A. Camb., Julian Goldsmid, M.A., Thomas Hodgkin, B.A., William Stanley Jevons, M.A., Fielden Thorpe, B.A. Fellows in Law, Samuel Hesse Behrend, M.A., Ebenezer Charles, LL.B., Edward Fry, B.A., Herbert Hardy Cozens-Hardy, LL.B. Fellows in Medicine, George Buchanan, M.D., Thomas Hillier, M.D., James Morris, M.D., William Roberts, M.D., Charles Henry Felix Routh, M.D.

THE RACQUET AND FIVES COURTS.

Since the last General Meeting, a Racquet Court and two covered Fives Courts have been erected on the College Ground,—the Racquet Court and one of the Fives Courts for the use of Students paying a moderate Subscription, and the other Fives Court for the use of the Pupils of the School.

This valuable addition to the property of the College, and desirable appendage for the promotion of healthful recreation for Students, has been obtained without any encroachment on the capital of the College.

The sum required for defraying the expense of the building was provided partly by friends of University Hall adjoining, and partly by a friend to both College and Hall, those friends being represented by Mr. Edwin W. Field. The Site was furnished by the College. The Building is the property of the College, subject to the conditions that the Students of University Hall are to share in the enjoyment of it equally with the Students of the College, and that the custody and management of the Courts and their affairs are to be vested, under Regulations approved by the Council of the College, in the Principal for the time being of University Hall, subject to a power reserved to the Council of the College, if they shall see fit, to associate in the management of the Courts one of the Professors of the College with such Principal, when it shall happen that he is not one of the Professors. The present Principal is Mr. Beesly, Professor of History.

Provision has been made that the College, if for any reason it shall desire to put an end to the arrangements, may in its discretion resume the sole custody and use of the Building on paying the cost of the Buildings, estimated at £1000, subject to deductions calculated according to the length of time that shall elapse before such resumption.

The Building was erected in the course of the Long Vacation, and the Racquet and Fives Courts have been in use since October. They are constantly resorted to by Students, and occasionally by Professors.

DONATIONS FOR THE LIBRARY.

Besides the Books enumerated in the lists contained in the Appendix of presentations to the College during the past Session, the Council have to notice specially Gifts of a very acceptable collection of Oriental Works made by Mr. Henry Tytler, formerly a Medical Student of the College, and now deceased, and his widow. The Gifts comprise the Divan of Hafiz, the Persian poet, presented by Mr. Tytler; and, besides seventeen volumes of Sanskrit and other Oriental Grammars and Dictionaries, four volumes of the Alif Laila (the Arabian Nights in Arabic) edited by W. H. Macnaghten, and Henry Martin's translation of the New Testament into Persian. These were presented by Mrs. Tytler after the decease of her husband, in pursuance of his desire.

DEATH OF MR. JAFFRAY.

The Council have to deplore the death of Mr. Arthur W. Jaffray, one of the most zealous and energetic Members of their body. They feel his loss to be irreparable. He took especial interest in the Hospital, in which he was the promoter of several important improvements. During his life he was a very generous contributor to its funds, his donations having amounted to £1400. He has left a Legacy of £2000, free of duty, to be invested for the benefit of the Charity. His connexion with the College commenced at a very early period of his life. He was a Pupil in the School on its first establishment, and afterwards a Student in several Classes of the College.

FINANCES.

In their last Report, the Council stated that appearances allowed them to expect that the account of the Receipts from the Classes for the then current Session would be more favourable than that rendered of the previous Session, 1862–63. That expectation, although realized as concerning the aggregate Receipts, was disappointed as regarded the portion retained for the College Fund. That portion was £2278 19*s.* 6*d.*, as may be verified by comparing the two first items on the respective Dr. and Cr. sides of the Statement of Receipt and Expenditure of the College Establishment at p. 18. In the former year the receipt was £2435. The anticipation that in the aggregate the Revenue would again fall short of the Expenditure was fulfilled. The deficiency stated in the last Report was £812: an item at the foot of the Dr. side of the statement above referred to at p. 18 shows the deficiency at the close of the Session 1863–64 to have been £1091 5*s.* 11*d.*

The whole of that deficiency, however, is not chargeable to the year's account; the sum of £234 for a printers' bill of a former year, the sum paid being £455 2*s.* 2*d.*, should be deducted; the deficiency will then be £857, compared with £812 of the former year. To meet the deficiency of the two years, and to provide for certain urgent repairs and improvements to the Building, Fixtures, and Furniture, the Council availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by a general change of Investments to set aside the sum of £2300 out of the proceeds of the sale of East India Stock at their command for general purposes. Of that sum £1091 5*s.* 11*d.* is accounted for as excess of expenditure in the statement for the present year; the remaining £1208 18*s.* 4*d.* standing over for the next year, to pay for the repairs, &c., above mentioned, is represented in the Capital and Trust Fund Account (p. 16) by a temporary reduction in the standing Liabilities of the College from £3500 to £2500, and by £208 18*s.* 4*d.*, the chief part of the balance of £277 14*s.* 2*d.* on the credit side at the close of that account.

The last Report of the Council contained a promise to give their serious attention to the repeated failure of the Receipts to meet the Expenditure. They lost no time in appointing a Committee to consider that subject, and, if possible, to suggest a remedy. The most obvious mode of improving the income of the College presented itself in a change of Investments; a scheme for that purpose, proposed by the Committee, was approved by the Council, and various funds in 3 per Cents and old East India Stock belonging to the College and Hospital were converted into New 5 per Cents and Indian Railway Stock guaranteed by the Indian Government to the aggregate amount of £51,956 9*s.* 6*d.* proceeds of sales, and £49,656 5*s.* 3*d.* reinvested, the balance of £2300 4*s.* 3*d.* being retained for the purposes above explained. The detail of these new investments will appear in the Table of Investments appended to this Report. As a guarantee against loss on a reinvestment in £16,000 New 5 per Cents liable to be paid off at par in 1873, a Reserve Fund, for which an annual investment of £146 sterling in New 3 per Cents will be made, has been resolved on and already commenced.

Another result of the labours of the same Committee was the institution of the Andrews Entrance Exhibitions and the changes in the Andrews Scholarships referred to in the early part of this Report. The Council will continue to give their anxious attention to the subject.

In the meantime some improvement in the circumstances of the current Session, arising from the addition to the Dividends of invested funds and an increase of Receipts from the College Classes, may be confidently reckoned on.

THE HOSPITAL.

The Council find cause for congratulation in the improved condition, both present and prospective, of the Hospital. The amount of invested property is now more than £12,000, yielding an income of nearly £600 per annum. The debt has been reduced from £7900 to £4500 to the end of October last. Legacies of £2000, free of duty, for investment, and of £600 for general purposes, are payable in the course of the year. The reversionary property in which the Charity is interested may be estimated at upwards of £70,000.

The great event of the past year has been the bequest of the residuary purely personal estate of the late Mr. Edward Yates. This is estimated at £40,000 or £50,000*; it is subject, however, in part at least, to an annuity of £1500 provided for the Testator's Mother by the Will of his Father; and a moiety of the income is to be applied to the Samaritan Fund of the Hospital. It is but lately, however, that the Will has been proved, and the Council have yet to wait for accurate information of the benefits to accrue to the Hospital. Dr. Hare, one of the Professors of the Medical Faculty to the College, and a Physician to the Hospital, is one of the Executors.

* More or less partly dependent on the realization of property in the United States of America.

The Collection at the Public Dinner in April last, at which Mr. Charles Dickens presided, amounted to £1621. The list of the contributors on the occasion, which has been widely circulated, will be shortly republished in the Hospital Report.

Other contributions during the year have been received as follows:—from Mr. Hibbert £100 for investment, making the tenth for the like purpose; and £50 from Mrs. Flanagan for investment, making £400 also for the like purpose. A donation of £1000 was received from W. Crawford, M.P., being a portion of a sum of money placed at his disposal by the Hon. Rustomjee Jamsetjee Jeejebhoy for distribution amongst the Charities of London; and especially to those Institutions the object of which is to relieve the poor and indigent, and succour the helpless and infirm, without reference to race, creed, or religion. The amount has been invested in the purchase of £68 7*s.* 7*d.* Thirty Years (1855) Annuities; also a Gift of £375 by direction of the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, portion of the bequest to Her Majesty of the late Madame de Lilly for the benefit of the poor of London.

The following Legacies have been received during the year:—£5000, less duty, bequest of the late Jacob Stiebel, Esq.; £500, less duty, bequest of Mrs. Veal; £500 New 3 per Cents, less duty, bequest of the late Charles Chickeby Hyde, Esq.; £19 19*s.*, bequest of the late J. Waley, Esq.; £19 19*s.*, bequest of the late Isaac Mocatta, Esq.; £100, free of duty, bequest of the late Henry Lloyd, Esq.

Notices of other Legacies have been received, of £500 by the late George Weelhouse, Esq., and £100 by the late Mrs. Lemage.

The Council hope that this improved condition of the Hospital will have the effect of giving confidence to its friends, and of encouraging them to renewed exertions on its behalf. Strenuous efforts are still required to secure the present means of conducting it with full efficiency, so as to augment the benefits which it confers on the poor, and to maintain its value and repute as the practical department in the School of Medicine of the College.

WORKING MEN'S MEMORIAL OF GRATITUDE TO SIR ROBERT PEEL.

Three Institutions, viz. the Middlesboro' Mechanics' Institution, the Hanley Mechanics' Institution, and the Leeds Mechanics' Institution, received contributions from the Income of this Fund in 1864. Books, &c., costing £15, were furnished to each of them.

The expenses incurred by the Trustee for advertising, printing, &c., amounted to £5 8*s.* 4*d.* The balance in hand of dividends at this day is £58 17*s.* 5*d.* The intention to make, this spring, three Gifts of books, to the cost of £15 for each Gift, will be advertised forthwith.
